Typography & Color Palettes

Lexend

Lexend is a typeface designed specifically to improve reading performance by addressing common issues like visual crowding and reading fatigue. It was developed by Dr. Bonnie Shaver-Troup in collaboration with type designer Thomas Jockin. The typeface aims to enhance reading fluency, especially for individuals with dyslexia or other reading difficulties.

The color #5C8E7E is a deep, muted teal, often associated with calmness, balance, and healing—qualities that are particularly important in a hospital setting. This color evokes a sense of tranquility and stability, which can be soothing for patients, staff, and visitors alike. In a hospital environment, where emotions can run high and stress levels are often elevated, a color like #5C8E7E helps to create a calming atmosphere, promoting a sense of safety and comfort.
Teal tones like #5C8E7E also suggest cleanliness and professionalism, reinforcing the hospital's commitment to quality care. Contributing to a sense of reassurance and trust.
